Unmasked Man Gets $1,427, Leaves in Automobile

SUMMERVILLE, Mo., Oct. 5.—(P)—The Summerville state bank was robbed of approximately $1,427 shortly before 11 a. m. today by an unmasked man who fled in an automobile.

The man entered the bank armed with a pistol and informed Lee Bell, cashier, that "This is a stick-up." Bell and Mrs. Gladys Buffington were alone in the bank and ordered to get into the vault. The robber picked up a money sack and scooped available cash into it and then slammed the door on the bank employees. They escaped from the vault a few minutes later and notified officers.

A cordon of state highway patrol cars was thrown quickly around the area in an attempt to block all roads over which the bandit might flee.

Driving Plymouth

The highway patrol said the bandit drove away in a Plymouth automobile, light blue or green in color, but the license number has not been obtained. The patrol described him as about 30 years old, tall, slender and wearing a sport coat. He was armed with an automatic pistol.

Summerville, a town of about 300 population, is on the eastern edge of Texas county, in southern Missouri, on state highways 17 and 106.

The Summerville bank was organized in 1904. G. A. Richards is president.

Bell said he believes the robber was in the bank yesterday wearing a soldier's uniform.

Three Kinds Of Pensions For Veterans

All Pensions Are Free of State And Federal Taxes

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—(P)—There are three kinds of pensions for war veterans. Two are for disability due to military service. The third is for disability not connected with military service.

Group One: For those disabled in line of duty there is a pension based upon the degree of disability. This could be anything from a stiff wrist or bronchitis to loss of an eye or limb.

The degree of disability ranges from 10 percent to 100 percent (total disability). There is no pension for a disability rated lower than 10 percent.

These pensions are paid at the rate of $1 per percentage point—starting at 10 per cent—plus 15 per cent.

An Example

For Example: Tom Smith came out of service with bronchitis. If it was chronic but mild, it might be rated a 10 per cent disability. He'd receive $11 monthly, plus 15 per cent, or $11.50.

If it was chronic but severe and was rated 30 per cent disability, he'd receive $30, plus 15 percent, or a total monthly pension of $34.50.

The degree of disability is determined by a board of specialists within the veterans' administration (Please turn to Page 12, Column 6)

Americans Take Beggendorf; British Invade Greece Proper

Laying Siege to German Garrison Which Tried to Flee Northward

By Sid Feder

IN WESTERN GREECE, Oct. 2.—(Delayed)—British forces have landed in the Greek province of Peloponnesus and pushed from the original beachhead to the port of Patrai, where the Tommies are laying siege to a German garrison which sought desperately to flee northward.

(Sea and air landings were made several days ago, though the operation was announced by the Allied command only today.)

Not many miles from the mythical birthplace of the legendary Ulysses, the invading convoy ran into a set of circumstances that would have fitted exactly into his strange travels.

Just a few hours from the small port where the landings were made, a severe storm sprang up. Two waterspouts whirled up from the sea toward the convoy. Only by evasive tricks were the captains able to keep their vessels from being struck. "It seemed as if the furies were trying to frustrate us," one officer said.

This invasion was different from all others, although the wild welcome of the Greeks was familiar. Many of them were suffering from lack of medicines.

On Anniversary

The landings coincided with the third anniversary of the founding of the Greek patriot organization Elias.

The amphibious forces found a full scale supply dump awaiting them. The Tommies who broke over the beaches and started the liberation of Greece had cover from their own air force, operating from the area to be invaded.

For the first two days, there was not a German to be seen, indicating the enemy had pulled out of this region except for garrisons to keep escape routes open.

Troop carriers dropped the first troops in Greece, and these es-

Wounded, But Only Slightly

S/Sgt. Joseph C. Higgins was slightly wounded in action on September 12 in Belgium, according to a message received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Higgins, of Houstonia, from the War Department.

Mr. and Mrs. Higgins had received a letter written the week before by another boy telling them their son had been wounded in action and was now in a hospital in England. His arm was in a cast and he could not write but asked the other boy to write his parents and tell them not to worry, as he was doing fine.

S/Sgt. Higgins entered service on November 5, 1941. After training in several camps in the United States he arrived in England in September, 1943 where he was stationed until June of this year when he took part in the invasion of France.

Quentin Roosevelt Promoted

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—(P)—Captain Quentin Roosevelt, grandson of the late President Theodore Roosevelt, has been promoted to the temporary rank of major, the War Department reported today.

He entered the army shortly after leaving Harvard in 1941.

Despite the German mobilization, Stimson said, the Nazis "do not have the full manpower needed for the defense job."

TODAY ON THE War Fronts

LONDON, Oct. 5.—(P)—More than 1,000 U. S. Flying Fortresses and Liberators hit German targets at Cologne, Rheine, Handorf, Lippstadt, Paderborn and Munster in clearing weather today.

Two main forces, with strong fighter escort, attacked the choked rail terminals at Cologne and Rheine, while smaller formations raided airfields at the other places.

Rheine is an important western front rail junction just across the Dutch border north and west of Munster.

This big daylight operation, the eighth in ten days, followed another busy night of train busting by RAF Mosquitos in Germany and Holland.

RAF Mosquitos kept the offensive going last night with a stab at 18 more trains in Germany and Holland. Four airplanes were lost. It was the 28th night out of the last 34 that Allied bombers had visited the Reich.

Japan Admits Losing War Of Foodstuffs

Allied Bombs Knocking Out Oil Producing Center

By Leonard Millman Associated Press War Editor

Tokyo radio indicated today that Allied bombers are wasting no time in their long distance campaign to knock out the vital oil producing centers at Balikpapan, Borneo.

A Domei (news) agency broadcast reported 40 four-engined bombers struck Tuesday in the second mass raid at Balikpapan.

Sixty Liberators struck the first heavy blow three days previously. Only yesterday MacArthur promised this important source of Japanese oil and aviation gasoline would be pounded into uselessness "drastically and immediately" curtailing Japan's ability to fight in the air or on the sea.

GERMANY WILL TRY IT AGAIN

By Sigrid Schultz
Copyright, 1944, by Sigrid Schultz Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

As an American newspaper correspondent in Berlin from 1919 to 1941, Sigrid Schultz saw at first hand the events that led from World War I to World War II. And she saw the behind-the-scenes preparation for the coming "war-in-peace" that she warns may culminate in World War III. This is the story of Germany's plans to win the peace, plans that even now are being put into effect.

THE Allies wanted peace in 1918. The German masses wanted peace in 1918.

But the German General Staff merely wanted a breathing spell in which to rearm.

And its successor, the German secret general staff, although not altogether a military organization, was above all a militaristic one.

Three times within the first five years after the end of World War I, the German militarists believed their chance had come to overthrow the Republic and precipitate a glorious new war.

General von Luetwitz, chief of the Berlin garrison and several Free Corps, who headed the movement against accepting the treaty, presented an ultimatum to the government, demanding among other things that the officer corps be given a voice in matters of state. But the parliamentary system was beginning to work in Germany, better than many had expected, and the leaders of the young Republic had the courage to stand firm.

In July, 1919, after the signature of the Versailles Treaty, General von Luetwitz and his sympathizers tried to seize power. He made a rabble-rousing speech, calling for a levee en masse, a general rising of the people against the government. His fellow officers and his soldiers cheered. The population just ignored him. The German people didn't like the Versailles Treaty, but they wanted war even less.

Any militarist, any pan-German, retreats when the resistance against him is found to be too strong. General von Luetwitz accordingly called back his plotters and decided to bide his time.

And he could afford to wait. For the Reichswehr, created by the Republic, was run by reactionary officers under the extraordinarily efficient General Hans von Seeckt. Theoretically, von Seeckt took his orders from the Defense Minister, Gustav Noske, but von Seeckt managed him with an adroit combination of flattery and trickery.

DURING the night of March 12, the Republic found out how few of its ranking military collaborators could be depended on. Ehrhardt's Brigade, in Camp Doberitz, had been ordered to disband. They had responded with an ultimatum. On that March night, there was a conclave of Republican leaders and army chiefs.

The High Command, which had been at such pains to ingratiate itself with Gustav Noske, froze into Prussian stiffness when Noske requested the army to step in and crush the mutiny.

"There can be no question of making men of the Reichswehr fight against men of the Reichswehr," said General von Seeckt in his harsh voice, thus in one sentence incorporating the Ehrhardt Free Corps into the Republican army.

In his ultimatum Captain Ehrhardt stated that his troops would be at the Victory Column in the Tiergarten at 5 o'clock that morning to accept the government's capitulation. At 5 o'clock Ehrhardt and his men were there. General Ludendorff stood on the corner near the Victory Column and watched them march through the gray dawn into the heart of the city.

But the government had gone. A few hours earlier they had left the city by car for a secret destination.

Most of us who were in Berlin in those days were so used to seeing guns drawn up Unter den Linden that we thought there had been just one more of the many minor revolts. Then a soldier in field gray thrust a proclamation into my hands. It was a bold announcement of the conquest of power in Germany by a General-landschaftsdirektor, a provincial district director by the name of Kapp.

KAPP was a nobody from East Prussia, plucked out of the air by General Ludendorff as a front man. Despite the assurances of peace in the proclamation, I felt sure there was trouble ahead.

I found the Hotel Adlon in an uproar. I had a tip that the labor unions were on the verge of calling a general strike. From the office I managed to get in touch with a few Republican leaders.

They confirmed it. A general strike would "show the world how strong the German Republicans are." And it did. The Republican workers saw to it that the gas and electricity, the water services, the street cars, and the railroads stopped functioning. All the shops and factories closed. No food could be found. Hotel service ceased. The telephones went dead all over Germany. To get my calls through, I cooked up a mysterious disease, making it necessary to consult various doctors to save my life. Everybody I called answered to "Herr Doktor" and exchanged bulletins with me in a wonderful mumbo-jumbo of medical terms.

But it wasn't long before Kapp and his backer, General Ludendorff, were the patients, and very sick men they were. For their friends in the Defense Ministry—who had been so warmly encouraging before the putsch—now coldly refused to co-operate. The realistic von Seeckt had seen the whole German people back the government's call for a general strike. Obviously, no man can send out a few squads and shoot the ringleaders if it is the whole nation in rebellion. He retreated from the responsibility of arch-conspirator, to wait for another day.

Slight Dent In Fender In Accident

Nazi Balkan Escape Road Is Rocky

The Allied invasion of Albania and Yugoslavia added just about the last halibones in the storm of woe drenching Germans in the lower Balkan peninsula. Map above shows how they are caught between Allied pincers from both sides, to say nothing of being constantly raided by strong guerrilla units. With railroads bombed out, their only escape routes are along the narrow, rough mountain roads. Attempt to escape by sea is risky. Salonika, escape port both for Germans attempting to run northward and those fleeing south from Bulgaria is under constant bombardment by the Allies' Balkan Air Force.

Looking Backward

Forty Years Ago

Gen. John H. Rice, in past years one of the best known editors in the west, died at his home in Fort Scott, Kas., last night of apoplexy. He was aged about 80 years. Gen. Rice was founder of the Sedalia Capital and was a resident of this city about a couple of years.

Dean, Colaflower and Dean, having the contract for paving of Engineer avenue, were compelled to suspend work temporarily on account of failure of a shipment of brick to arrive from Fort Scott on scheduled time.

Ernest Heaton and family, who have been residing at Sparta, Mo., have returned to Sedalia after an absence of ten years and will again make this city their home. He will engage in the real estate business.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Moses, former Sedalians, now of Great Bend, Kas., brought the remains of her father, Theodore Stock, to Sedalia for burial and will return to their home Friday.

Dr. O. P. Kernodle and family, formerly of Sedalia, but for several months past residing at Ashland, Kas., have moved from there to Enid, Okla.

Stockard Calls For Authority

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 5.—(AP)—A proposal for a one-house legislature will stay on Missouri's November election ballots unless its sponsors "can show me I've got the authority to take it off," Secretary of State Gregory Stockard said Wednesday night.

Milton F. Napier of St. Louis, attorney for the crusaders of Missouri which sponsored the initiative proposal, wrote Stockard today, requesting the plan be knocked off the ballot.

Stockard conferred with attorney general's office, then called upon Napier to produce legal proof that the secretary of state has any power to pull back a proposal already certified for the ballot.

Stockard deferred until tomorrow his plan to ask the attorney general for a written opinion on his authority in the matter. "As I see it now, I'll leave it on less the crusaders can show me it's my duty to take it off—and how to take it off," Stockard asserted.

"I don't see how it can be stopped now. It's gone too far," Stockard said, adding that many soldiers already have voted on the proposal on absentee ballots. "The only way I see to get it off would be to re-certify these constitutional questions to the county clerks and leave it off, and I don't think that would be legal," Stockard said and recalled a law requiring certification at least 70 days before the election, which this year is Nov. 7.

DariAnn says

What dessert do you think of this time of year? Pumpkin pie with whipped cream? Umm! Here's a pumpkin pie recipe that's "different" for it has a slight orange taste, and with my own special topping—well, it's simply "out of this world."

Pumpkin Pie A La Daricraft

1 cup pumpkin
Brown in slightly buttered pan 10 min. stirring occasionally as you prepare following—
1½ cups DARICRAFT (undiluted)
¾ cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon ginger
¼ cup orange juice
2 eggs well beaten

Add to hot pumpkin, mix thoroughly and put in unbaked crust in oven at 450° for 10 min. Turn oven to 325° and bake 25 min.

Just before serving, top with following—

Topping

½ cup ice cold DARICRAFT
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon orange juice

Whip and add a grating of orange rind and 3 tablespoons sugar
Whip again and place in tray of refrigerator for at least 2 hours.

This is really SOMETHING to serve those "special guests." Of course you MUST use DARICRAFT to get that glorious flavor. DARICRAFT is that new "super" evaporated milk, you know, that is pure fresh Jersey milk pasteurized and homogenized with nothing but 50% of the water removed, and ONLY Vitamin D added. It's DARICRAFT's special process that gives it that "special" flavor. Get some today at your grocers, and try it in your favorite recipe.

Dr. A. W. Tandy Opens Revival

Dr. A. W. Tandy arrived in Sedalia Monday evening and began the revival meeting at the Calvary Baptist church, Broadway and Monticau, using as his subject: "What is a Revival?"

He said in part: "I believe in leaving God's business to Him. I am concerned about looking after my own. I know God will bless His Word—will I preach it? A revival can be of many kinds. Revival means to bring to life again. A life may have weakened, fallen into disease, gone to sleep and is brought out full again. What do we want to revive? What needs to be revived? It's an easy thing to revive evil, but do we want evil or do we need it? Do we want to revive hate, strife, prejudices and things that mar life? No, we want and need a revival that will bring us more and more what Christ wants us to have."

"Jesus said 'I have come that ye might have life and have it more abundantly.' We need eternal life, life which comes from God, rich in all the graces and goodness of God. When do we need life? We need it all the time. When we get God in our souls we will have a revival of a good many other things we want and need. We will love one another and be more concerned about people who don't know Him at all. I don't believe God wants to whip anybody to their task."

"He said, 'Go teach,' not go compel. We are not like slaves driven. To be with Christ is to have Him with us. If in these two weeks we can help people to find Christ and love Him better and serve Him better we will have had a good revival."

Services each morning at ten, studying together the book of John. Each evening at 8 o'clock.

Poultry Award To E. N. Swartzel

CHICAGO—The nation's agricultural spotlight will be focused on E. N. Swartzel, Lincoln, Mo., as an outstanding farmer this week, although he operates a tiny, 39-acre unit.

Swartzel and his wife will receive an Award for Superior Achievement in Agriculture from an oil company Saturday morning. Their small farm not only is a top-notch wartime food producer, but has one of the most remarkable long-time poultry records in the United States, the committee found.

In the 17 years the Swartzels have kept poultry records they have marketed more than 134 million eggs. Stepping up production to meet wartime demands, they produced 9,650 dozen eggs last year, and expect to sell more than 10,000 dozen this year. Their flock has averaged 604 hens since 1927, and each hen averaged 171 eggs a year. In 1938 they had 13 White Leghorn hens which won the national egg-laying contest with a 255-egg average.

The award is presented only to outstanding farmers who also are community leaders. It consists of a $100 War Bond, gold lapel button, plaque, and banner.

SAGES

Why doesn't someone tell me these things?

YOU CAN'T BLAME THE OTHER FELLOW

if a "freeze-up" wrecks your engine!

All right, so you don't pay much attention to advertising! But sure as it will freeze this winter, some car owner who doesn't heed this message will find a sudden freeze-up has wrecked the cylinder head, engine block, or radiator of his car. He'll learn, too, that these parts are hard to get—that replacements, if available, may take weeks.

Your car is needed to help relieve crowded trains, trolleys and busses. That's why the War Production Board has seen to it that there is enough anti-freeze to meet the real needs of every automobile in the country.

But please don't waste a drop. Have your dealer put in anti-freeze in time this year—but avoid wasteful over-protection. Remember, anti-freeze is made from war-critical materials—materials that must also go into explosives, synthetic rubber, and plastics.

To save anti-freeze and money, have your cooling system checked by your dealer before installing anti-freeze. He'll make sure that all parts and connections are tight to avoid leakage. He can also clean out the rust and scale which so often clog cooling systems and cause overheating and wasteful use of gas and oil.

Have your dealer service your cooling system today and give it two-way protection—against freezing and against rust—with a Du Pont anti-freeze.

Campaign for Election to Congress a Kissing One

BALTIMORE, Oct. 5.—(P)—Ensign John W. Benson launched his campaign for election to Congress today with an offer "to personally kiss every lady in the Third Congressional District who desires to accept."
And for the men, he promised "an attractive young lady who has volunteered to kiss every male voter in the district—Democrats, Republicans and Independents."
Benson, who won the Republican nomination from his district while serving in the Mediterranean in the U. S. Maritime Service, said he couldn't match spaghetti dinners given by his Democratic opponent, Rep. Thomas D'Alessandro, Jr.
"Not to be outdone, I have decided to give the voters something in appreciation of their support," the 28-year-old candidate said in a statement.
"Inasmuch as I am in the service and my financial means are extremely limited ($138 a month base pay), I cannot see my way clear to feed spaghetti to my many Democratic and Republican friends x x x although I am fond of spaghetti myself."
"For days now I have thought just what I can offer my supporters except expensive spaghetti dinners. Hot air and empty promises? These, I have learned since my return from foreign sea service, are the usual things a candidate for office hands out free of charge. I do not intend to give out either."
The candidate, who is unmarried, said the kissing campaign would get under way at a formal meeting Saturday.
"Of course," he added, "I shall have to rest up from now until Saturday."

established supply dumps with material also ferried by plane. Men and women in peasant dress greeted the parachutists enthusiastically and helped them assemble stores. A regular airport was established.
Forced Gifts
"The peasants tried to force eggs, tomatoes and even turkeys on us," one of the fliers recounted. "When we refused, they tried to slip eggs into our pockets. I told them nobody had time to cook the turkeys so they cooked them for us."
Word of the incursion spread and ragged and shoeless Italians came in and surrendered, saying they had been robbed of clothing by the Germans and abandoned to the Greek patriots, who were reported doing yeoman work in harrying the enemy escape routes.
The original plane landings were followed quickly by Spitfires and supply planes loaded with fuel and food which made ready for seaborne forces who landed three days later.

Mail Waiting
"When these fellows got off the boat on D-Day, they even had mail waiting for them," one officer said. "When the invasion ships landed, there were enough supplies and fuel already flown in to ensure protection of forces on the peninsula. The only casualty in the whole operation was one cow. A transport plane landing at night broke the animal's back."

With the Germans conspicuously absent, the operation was less like an invasion than a smooth occupation.
On D-Day, naval forces with infantry commands, part of an RAF regiment and engineers landed and worked in coordination with the Balkan air force.

Many peasants along the line of march were in pitiable conditions because the Germans pillaged the countryside of medicine, food and clothing. Quinine especially was lacking, and it is needed in this area where malaria abounds.

Given the chance to leave embattled Calais during a 24-hour truce between the attacking Allies and the defending Nazis, these civilians cross the Calais Canal bridge as they hurry out of the French port city. One elderly woman, too weak to walk, is shown being carried by a neighbor. Shortly after the truce ended, Canadian troops were in possession of the city.

Sink Or Ruin Ten Freighters

Allied Planes Hit Oil Tanks Starting Fires

By Spencer Davis
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN New Guinea, Thursday, Oct. 5.—(P)—Allied planes sank or damaged 10 more Japanese freighters, pounded Japanese airfields and lashed at an important port in sweeps from the Philippines to Ambonia, reported today by headquarters.
Heavy bombers ploughed through fairly heavy anti-aircraft fire to attack Makassar, major Japanese port on the southwest coast of Celebes. They started 17 sizeable fires among oil tanks and wharves during the assault Monday night and early Tuesday morning. No Allied planes were lost.
Catalina patrol planes hit the largest ship of the bag in Amerong Bay, Celebes, during the same night. They left the 2,000-ton freighter burning and listing heavily.
The cats also pounced on a cluster of smaller freighters and barges at Gorontalo, north-central Celebes, damaging three, sinking several barges and bombing land installations.
Sank Four Freighters
Earlier that day Lightning fighters planes sank four 1,000-ton freighters in Ambon Bay, Ambonia Island. Heavy units struck the adjacent Laha and Harokoe airdromes with 95 tons of explosives.
Patrol planes damaged a medium tanker at Basilan Island south of Zamboanga in the southern Philippines, and sank a 1,000-tonner in the Soela Islands, east of Celebes.
Airdromes on Ceram were knocked out temporarily with 90 tons of explosives.
Meanwhile Sixth army troops on Morotai Island, in the Halmaheras, mopped up enemy positions five miles north of the Pitoa airfield, now in American hands. Skirmishing at the headwaters of The Pilowa river resulted in 29 enemy killed. The Japanese total now is 70 dead, and 12 captured in the virtually unopposed Morotai campaign.
Raid On Refinery
Balikpapan, big Japanese-held oil center in Dutch Borneo, won't be turning out much gasoline for awhile.
More than 60 four-engine American Liberators bombers raided the refinery Saturday, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today, dropping 74 tons of bombs to start huge fires which sent smoke towering 6,000 feet.
Returning pilots said the power plant and refraction towers of the 3,000,000 barrel capacity Pandasari refinery were hit by 40 bombs.
In his communique MacArthur pointed out that destruction of Balikpapan would curtail "drastically and immediately the enemy's capacity to wage air and naval war and to move essential cargo. x x x The advance of our bomber line now has made possible heavy bomber attacks on Balikpapan."
(Tokyo radio of Oct. 2, (U. S. time), several days after the Balikpapan raid, announced plans to create a single synthetic oil control company "in order to boost production of synthetic oil."
The Japanese sent up 30 fighters to intercept the Americans. Seven were shot down and others damaged. American losses were three planes with many others damaged.

are guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charley Taylor.
Harry Hazlett, who has been overseas in military service two years, has joined his wife here, the former Miss Ellen Voncannon. She has been making her home here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Voncannon.
L. J. Potter, who enlisted in the navy in 1941 and was trained in different points in the United States, and who has served 18 months in the South Pacific, was sent back to the Great Lakes Naval Training school where he recently completed a 3-months' course. Talks Given At S-C Assembly

Miss Marie Larkin, art instructor at Smith Cotton, and Coach John Leigon, a coach of the football team in Smith Cotton, were the entertainers at the junior high school assembly Wednesday morning in the school auditorium.

A chalk talk was given by Miss Larkin. Drawing ten different pictures, she changed flowers into men, words into animals, a necktie into a washwoman hanging out her wash, and a milk bottle into a football player. About the most humorous was the transition of the letters GIN, written vertically, into a fellow with a very bad "hangover" and a very bright red nose.

Talking on the subject of "football" Coach Leigon gave an interesting history of the game.

Sportsman's Park Packed for the Opening Game

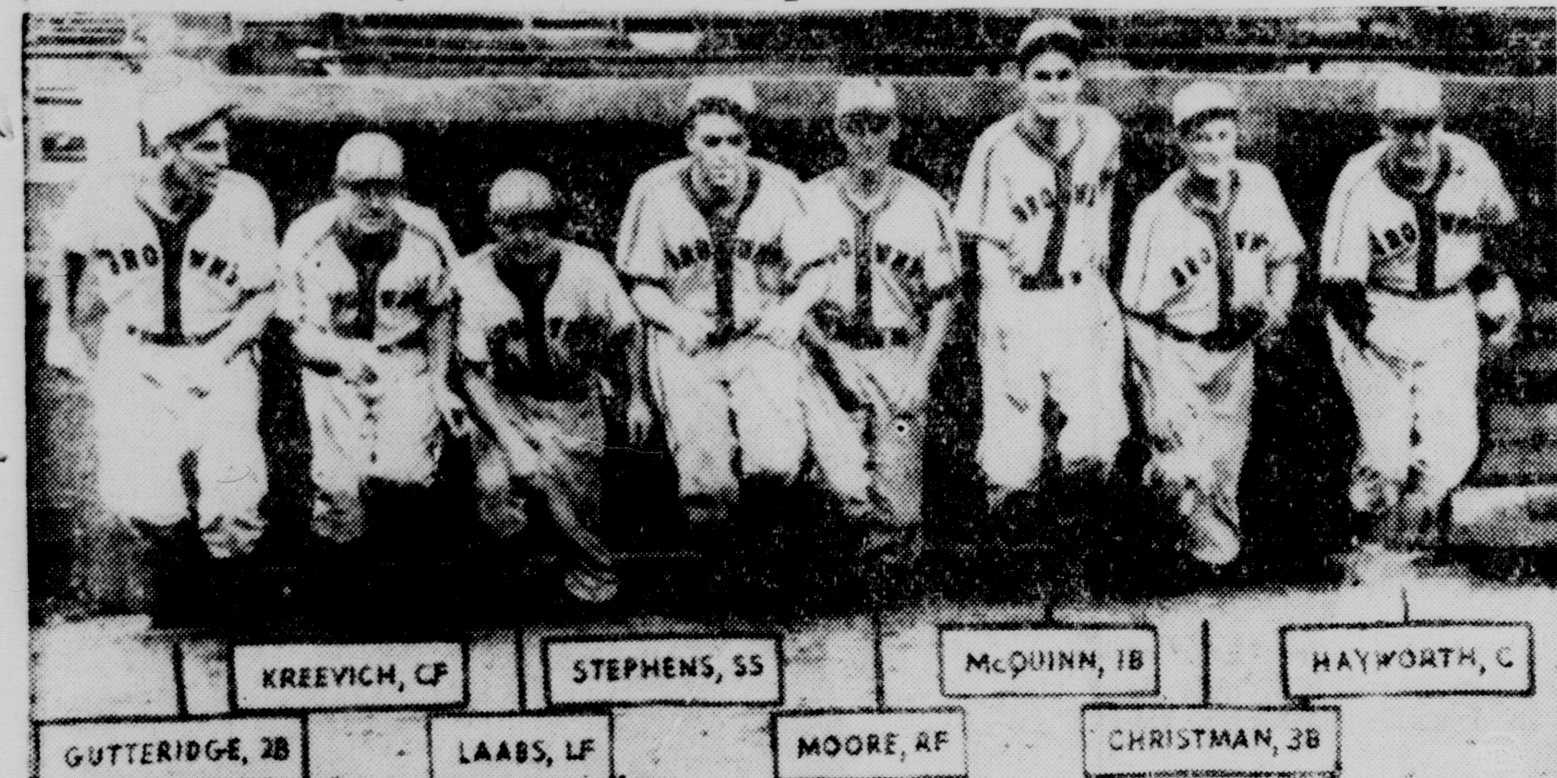

This was the scene in Sportsman's Park at St. Louis in the first inning of the opening game of the World Series as Ray Sanders, Cardinal first baseman, struck out for the second out of the last half of the inning. Denny Galehouse was hurling for the Browns who won, 2 to 1. (AP Wirephoto)

Cooper Fires the First Pitch

Morton Cooper, Cardinal starting pitcher, throws to Don Gutteridge, Browns' second baseman and leadoff batter in first inning of the World Series opener at St. Louis. The catcher is Walker Cooper and the umpire is Ziggy Sears. At the upper right is Emil Verban, Cards second baseman and Umpire Tom Dunn. The Browns won the game, 2 to 1, after Mort Cooper gave way to a pinch hitter in the eighth inning. (AP Wirephoto)

World Series News Briefs

By Ben F. Phlegar
ST. LOUIS, Oct. 5.—(AP)—The Browns' first game victory was the second time in less than a week that they won a ball game on two hits. Last Friday they beat the Yankees 1-0 with only two safe blows, a single and a double.

Hal Newhouser, Dizzy Trout, Dick Wakefield and Bob Swift, four members of the Detroit Tigers who had counted on playing in the series instead of watching it, were in the stands yesterday.

If Luke Sewell and Billy Southworth need any advice during this series they won't have to look far. Frankie Frisch, former Cardinal pilot; Gabby Street and Rogers Hornsby, who led both St. Louis clubs; and Jim Bottomley, who once headed the Browns, are attending the games.

Marty Marion, who sported only a .269 batting average for the season, was the only Cardinal to get two hits in the first game, both two-baggers. Marion was the leading batter in the 1943 series with .357.

The records say the Cards will have to win today's game to stay in the running. Never has a team lost the first two contests of a best four-of-seven series and come back to take the classic.

Umpires Ernie Stewart of the American League and Lou Jorda of the National have two of the best seats in the park and get $500 plus expenses just for watching the game. They are reserves and will work only if one of the four regular arbiters is sick or injured.

Tigers To Play St. Peter's Friday

The Smith Cotton Tigers will meet the Jefferson City's St. Peter's Catholic high school on the Public Stadium field in Jefferson City at 8:00 o'clock Friday night. John Ligon, Albert Steiner, and Ralph "Stub" Dow, coaches, claim that the boys are in fine physical shape to meet the St. Peter's boys with the exception of Don Johnson, who bruised a muscle in the hip, which he received in the game Friday night, and Gordon Capes, who received a injured nose Wednesday in practice. There is a probability that both boys may get to play Friday night.

The Tigers will leave the high school about 5:00 o'clock Friday evening. This will be the Tigers third game, playing Marshall, losing 2-0, and Kemper Military School, losing 13-0.

About twenty-five Tigers will make the trip.

Kas. State Plays Mo. Saturday

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Kansas State and Missouri square off in Manhattan, Kas., Saturday to open their Big Six conference football campaign, and even their best friends don't think the result will have much influence in the title-awarding along about Thanksgiving.

Here's the size-up, looking at it strictly on the basis of performance:

Missouri lost to Arkansas which in turn lost—and convincingly—to the Oklahoma Aggies. And furthermore, Missouri was practically dismembered by Ohio State 54-0. Kansas State has a 7-7 tie with Wichita to balance these two lickings taken by the Missouri Tigers. But since Wichita was green stuff, no shouting is being heard at Manhattan either.

But football is a queer business even in peacetime. In wartime, with players dashing off and on the squad faster than firemen carrying victims from a burning building, it's even queerer. May be Missouri's injured will recuperate, or Kansas State's newcomers will become seasoned campaigners, and keep a front spot in the Big Six gallop. Anyway, that's what the boys will be hoping Saturday.

More Attending Games
DALLAS, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Business is picking up in the Southwest Conference.

In ten football games this season conference teams have drawn 125,967 customers compared with 101,699 for 11 games played at this time last year.

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.
NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Overseas sports roundup:

Nick of Time
The Yanks won't have the laugh on "Yank" this week and S. Sgt. Dan Polier, sports editor for the GI paper, is heaving a few healthy sighs of relief. . . . The current issue, printed a month ago, carried this sports overline: "Don't Sell Browns short in world series."

Southern Breeze

Ensign Neale Patrick, who has been so busy around the French Riviera since D-day that he has just had time to catch up with the proposals that baseball should install a college "draft," takes time out to offer this rebuttal: . . . "The Tigers grabbed from college and sandlots the only two-notchers Detroit has shown in years—Wakefield and Newhouser (no comment from Dizzy Trout.) They can shudder at what would have happened if the draft system had been working on those two kids. . . . And what good would a draft system do the majors? It didn't do much for balancing up pro football. It still was the Bears and Redskins about every year. . . . The only draft that ever will do much toward affecting pennant races is that one which hands you a gun and serial number as you blow by."

New Guinea Gold
Pvt. Woodrow Boone, former Gadsden, Ala., sports scribe, tells of New Guinea's first football game, September 19, 1944. . . . "Over three thousand khaki-clad fans yelled as Sgt. George A. Maye of Greensboro, N. C. (S. C. State) smashed over guard to lead the Engineers to a 6-0 victory over the Quartermasters. . . . It was fitting that two hard-fighting Negro teams should write the first chapter of New Guinea's football history. They are playing a great part in this theatre. To you critical Monday quarterbacks at home I report that the ball-handling was pretty ragged (New Guinea practices are limited to less than an hour in the cooler part of the mornings), and the plays weren't any too well executed because G. I. Joe pulls guard nights and hauls grub in the daytime."

Bricker Raps Special Favors

Insists That Campaign Be A Truthful One

By E. E. Easterly

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 5—(P)—Gov.
John W. Bricker of Ohio declared
Wednesday night that "new deal" leaders were unable to pass by "the millions of dollars collected" by the Political Action Committee and saw in them an opportunity
"to buy this election."

The Republican vice presidential candidate asserted that "pressure, regimentation, threats and intimidation" were the instruments of Sidney Hillman, director of the PAC.

"The millions of dollars collected by Hillman and his PAC x x x were too much for the new deal leaders to pass by," Bricker said in a campaign address over a nationwide radio (NBC) network.

"They saw the opportunity to evade the Hatch Act, to defy the corrupt practices act—indeed, to buy this election."

Declaring the Roosevelt administration "destroyed the Democratic party and made it a reactionary force in American political life," Bricker called the Republican party "truly the liberal party of America."

Appealing for a "sincere, straightforward and truthful" political campaign, Bricker said "cynicism, innuendo, flippant remarks, evasion and synthetic humor have no part in this wartime campaign."

Bricker addressed a crowd that nearly filled Kiel auditorium, which seats 3,500, after attending the opening game of the world series.

"Our sons are pressing the fight for freedom around the world.
Many of them are suffering the agonies of death and disease. We owe it to them and to ourselves to conduct this campaign with the same devotion to duty and high spiritual purpose that they are showing on the field of battle."

The Ohio governor referred to the Sept. 23 speech of President Roosevelt for the first time with these words:

"It was a speech of evasion, of name-calling, of muddled humor.
He tried to laugh off the confusion, incompetence, waste and bungling of the new deal."

On the relationship of government and labor, Bricker said: "I do not condemn the administration for its legitimate efforts on behalf of the workers of this country."

"But I do condemn the new deal for its favoritism among labor groups, for playing one against another for political purposes, for bad administration of labor laws and for political adjudication of disputes between labor and management."

"Such tactics," he said, "have resulted in strife and strikes. They have actually lessened war production."

Asking "who first declared class warfare in America?" Bricker told his audience:

"You know the answer. It was the new deal, aided and abetted
by such influences as Hillman (Sidney Hillman, chairman of the Political Action Committee) and his Communist friends."

Bricker asserted that when Gov.
Thomas E. Dewey, the Republican presidential candidate, replied to President Roosevelt's Sept. 23 speech and "answered Mr. Roosevelt's charges of fraud and falsehood by citing facts gleaned from the new deal," who "sprang to Mr. Roosevelt's defense?" "It was Hillman and Browder who attempted to answer Governor Dewey."

Bricker cited the speeches of Hillman and Earl Browder, director of the Communist political association, as "conclusive proof," he said, that "the Hillman-Brow-der group has taken over the new deal."

Bricker, who came here after Tuesday night's speech at Centralia, Ill., will ride his special train into Iowa tomorrow for ten speaking engagements in one day.

Three Kinds of Pen- sions for Veterans

which pays the pensions. The board consist of a doctor, lawyer and occupation expert.

If a veteran is discharged from service with a certificate of disability, the specialists' board generally does not examine him but takes the say-so of the army or navy doctors for his condition.

A man discharged as well and able, in the opinion of army or navy doctors, may file a claim for disability pension any time after his discharge if he thinks he has a just claim. He should start this procedure with the nearest regional office of the veterans' administration.

Group Two

Group Two: Veterans who have lost some part of the body—like an arm, hand, eye—get a flat, fixed pension payment.

And this is in addition to the pension paid for disability on a percentage basis as outlined in group one above.

For example: The flat pension payment to a man who has lost an eye, or leg or arm is $35 monthly.

Now suppose he lost a leg. If it was amputated at the hip, the specialists' board—under the disability pension program in group one—would count that a 90 per cent disability. So he'd receive $103.50 in disability pension ($90 plus 15 percent) and the flat $35 pension for loss of the leg.

Fixed Payments

But—in the case of more serious losses, the flat, fixed pension makes up the total pension payment and there is no payment for disability on a percentage basis.

Some of those fixed, total payments are: For the loss of both hands or both feet, or one hand and one foot, $165 monthly; for the loss of both eyes, or both hands and one foot, or both feet and one hand, $190; for the loss of both eyes and one hand or one foot, $215; for the loss of both eyes and both hands or both feet or one hand and one foot, $265; for the loss of both hands and both feet, $265.

This should be noted: Loss of "use" is considered the same as "loss" in specific payments for disability.

Group Three

Group Three: There is a flat $50 monthly pension for a veteran disabled after military discharge by a cause not connected with military service. But there are rigid conditions attached to this pension.

To get it the veteran must: Be permanently and totally disabled; have an annual income, if not married, not exceeding $1,000 or, if married, not exceeding $2,500;
have had at least 90 days' military service or been discharged for disability if he served less than 90 days. And he can't get the pension if the disability resulted from misconduct.

All these pensions are free of state and federal taxes.

"Pin Worms Can't Harm MY Child!"

Better learn the Truth, Mother!

You may think that Pin-Worms are just a harmless nuisance. Or you may think that this tormenting, embarrassing infection strikes only certain types of people.

Don't you believe it! Rich or poor, young or old—anybody, anywhere can have Pin-Worms. And these crawling pests, living and growing inside the human body, can cause real distress. So watch out for the warning signs that may mean this nasty infection—the aggravating rectal itch;
also, uneasy stomach, bed-wetting, nervous fidgeting and uneven appetite.

If you suspect Pin-Worms, get a package of P-W tablets right away, and be sure to follow the directions. P-W is the new Pin-Worm treatment developed by the Troops From Air, Sea, Land In Greece By British Invasion

Germans Are Evacuating Athens According To Ankara Report

By GEORGE BRIA
ROME, Oct. 5.—(P)—The British have invaded Greece, landing troops by air and sea in the Peloponnese, pushing forward rapidly and entering the important port of Patrai in a triumphant return to the scene of their bitter 1941 defeat by the Germans.

At Patrai, third among Greek ports, the invasion forces were only 70 miles west of the Isthmus of Corinth, the narrow neck which leads directly to Athens and links the Peloponnese to the rest of the Greek mainland.

(The Ankara radio said tonight that the Germans were evacuating Athens and the Peloponnese, moving hastily northward but hampered by patriot forces which were blowing up bridges and blocking roads).

Closely coordinated with lesser Allied operations on the Albanian coast and the Greek island of Kythera to the south, and coupled with the Russian approach to Belgrade and the advances of Tito's Partisans in Yugoslavia, this newest invasion promises to speed the disintegration of Hitler's Balkan positions.

Fighting Near Patrai
Announced only today by Allied force headquarters, the invasion was already several days old. It began with airborne landings which met no opposition, and the Tommies ran into fighting only as they neared Patrai.

There they found a German garrison, believed to be one of the few left in southern Greece. Sid Feder, Associated Press correspondent with the invasion forces, reported that the Germans made one offer to surrender to the British, but had not been able to come to terms. That was Monday—there has been no specific word since.

Up to that point, the invasion had more of the air of a triumphant entry than of a military assault. The British soldiers were welcomed with wild enthusiasm by the natives, who swarmed around them with shouts and gifts of food, flowers and kisses.

Escorted by fighters, parachute troops made the first landings, establishing airfields from which Spitfires were operating by the time the sea-borne troops arrived at a small port on the west coast, not many miles from the rocky island of Ithaca, home of the legendary Ulysses.

Even Found Mail Awaiting
For the first time in history, amphibious assault troops found their air cover already operating from the territory they were scheduled to invade. They even found mail awaiting them as they came ashore.

There has been no hint from headquarters of the size of the force involved in the invasion, but it is believed to be much smaller than the armies which landed in Sicily or Italy.

Some of these commando units are in the invasion force, plus naval forces, infantry, engineers, and part of an RAF regiment. They landed three days after parachute troops had dropped into the western Peloponnese and established an airfield where maps said it could not be done.

For a fortnight preceding the invasion the airfields, ports and rail centers of Greece had been pounded by more than 1,100 American and British bombers in an effort to paralyze German attempts to evacuate the mainland and the Aegean Islands.

The Greek invasion was accompanied by naval bombardment of enemy positions on Rhodes and other Aegean Islands, and huge fires observed on Rhodes were taken as indication the Germans were carrying out demolitions preparatory to abandoning that important stronghold.

In Albania, commandos were attacking the small but important port of Sarande, through which the enemy was trying to maintain its communications with its garrison on the strongly-held island of Corfu, reportedly garrisoned by a regiment of Nazi troops.

Further up the coast, British artillery continued to harass German communications and gun batteries on the mainland of Yugoslavia opposite the island of Brae.

In Greece, the population—which failed to provide any sizeable body of collaborators with the Nazis, and which suffered extreme hardship and hunger—rushed to help the invading British establish their supply dumps and airfields, and to offer food.

The British, said headquarters, countered with a promise that food and medicine for the Greek people would follow quickly behind the invasion troops.

Plane Takes A Dive Into River

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Oct. 5.—(P)—A naval ferry pilot crashed his plane in the Missouri river here today and escaped serious injury.

The low-flying plane, a light training craft en route from Wichita, Kas., to New York, struck a power line and dove into a submerged sand bar in the river.

The pilot, Ensign William Sternad, 22, was taken to a hospital, where a physician said his only apparent injuries were severe lacerations on his head and a hand. Sternad, who listed Cleveland, Ohio, as his home, said he was stationed at Columbus, Ohio, with the navy ferry command. Two planes which accompanied him flew on after their pilots saw Sternad taken safely from the damaged plane.

Cardinals Even With The Browns

Take The Second Game In Series In 11 Innings By Three To Two Score

By ORLO ROBERTSON
SPORTSMAN'S PARK, St. Louis, Oct. 5.—(P)—The Cardinals took advantage of the Browns' fielding lapses to gain an early lead and then lashed out with two timely hits in the eleventh inning today as they whipped the American League champions 3 to 2 and squared the first all-St. Louis world series in the longest game played in the baseball classic since 1935.

Away to an unearned two-run lead when the Browns' defense fell apart in the third and fourth innings, the National League titleholders broke through again in the second extra frame on blows by Ray Sanders and pinchhitter Ken O'Dea after the junior circuit boys had pounded Max Lanier for the two tying runs in the seventh.

Pitching Duel At Start
A crowd of 35,076, paying $152, 553, saw the two starting pitchers, Lanier, the southpaw ace of the National League, and 32-year-old Nelson Potter of the Browns hook up in a pitching duel during the early innings.

Potter went out for a pinch-hitter in the seventh the Browns staged their uprising. Lanier departed the scene after Mike Kreevich, Browns' centerfielder, opened the eighth with a double.

Blix Donnelly, who hurled the last two innings yesterday when the Browns won the series opener, and Bob Muncie, troubled with a sore arm the latter part of the season, were just as brilliant, neither giving ground until Ray Sanders led off the eleventh with a single to center. Whitey Kurowski moved him up with a sacrifice. Marty Marion was passed intentionally but O'Dea, batting for Second Baseman Emil Verban, caught one of Muncie's fast pitches for a line single into right to decide the issue.

Billy Southworth, manager of the Cards, announced he would lead tomorrow with freshman pitcher Ted Wilks, who won 17 and lost 4 during the regular season. Luke Sewell said he would send out Jack Kramer, another veteran with a 17-13 record.

Odds on the Cards to win the series shifted to 9 to 20 as the result of today's victory with the Browns.

Rev. Ralph Emerson Hurd was given a reception Wednesday night honoring his silver anniversary as pastor of the Epworth Methodist church. Mr. Hurd came to Sedalia in 1920 and was returned to this church at the conference this year for the twenty-fifth time.

FDR "Not Seeking" Communist Or Fascist Support

By HOWARD FLIEGER
WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—(P)—President Roosevelt, saying political propagandists are dragging the "Red herring" of communism into the presidential campaign, declared tonight that he neither seeks nor welcomes the support of communist or fascist groups or individuals.

The cry of Communism, he said, has been raised by "labor baiters and bigots and some politicians," who apply the term to "every progressive social measure and to the views of every foreign-born citizen with whom they disagree."

"I have never sought, and I do not welcome the support of any person or group committed to Communism, or Fascism," he declared, "or any other foreign ideology which would undermine the American system of government or the American system of free competitive enterprise and private property."

Republicans have asserted that the CIO Political Action Committee, backing the fourth term campaign, is peopled by Communists and Fascists.

"Not Interfere In Relationship"
Mr. Roosevelt, making his second avowed political address of the fourth term campaign, said his expression on Communism "does not in the least" interfere with our relationship with Russia.

The speech broadcast by CBS and NBC, was addressed primarily to Democratic party workers. Mr. Roosevelt urged a maximum voter turnout next month and in passing took an obvious slap at the poll tax election laws of some southern states.

"The right to vote must be open to our citizens irrespective of race, color or creed—without tax or artificial restriction of any kind," he said. "The sooner we get to that basis of political equality the better it will be for the country as a whole."

Without mentioning his Republican opponent, Governor Thomas E. Dewey, by name, the President hit out at Dewey's repeated charge that the administration does not plan to bring service men home as quickly as possible because it fears they cannot be provided with jobs.

Mr. Roosevelt cited administration announcements on demobilization plans, and added:

"It seems a pity that reckless words, based on unauthoritative sources, should be used to mislead and to weaken the morale of our men on the fighting fronts and the members of their families here at home."

The President referred to a statement by Chairman Anderson (D-NM), of the house committee on campaign expenditures that a document had been sent through the mails by 13 Republican congressmen under their legislative franking privilege without paying postage.

"This document says," the President continued, "that the 'red specter of Communism is stalking our country from east to west.'"

Mrs. Mattie Austin, South Harrison avenue last week received a letter from her son, Sgt. Richard Austin, in which he told of a recent furlough which he spent in Scotland. "As I came out of the club in Edinburgh," he said, "who should I see standing on the street corner but Billy Pulliam."

The boys were friends here and attended the same church. Young Pulliam is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Pulliam, 2001 East Broadway.

Knob Noster Youth Runs Into Jap. Shoots Him Down

(By Technical Sergeant Jeremiah A. O'Leary, of Washington, D. C., a Marine Corps Combat Correspondent, formerly of the Washington Evening Star.)

PELELIU, Palau Islands—(Delayed)—Marine Private First Class James Kelly, of Knob Noster, Mo., turned the corner of a tank and ran head on into a Jap who was coming around the other way.

Both men sprawled to the ground, but the Marine recovered first. Even as the Jap pointed his rifle, Private First Class Kelly shot once with his M-1. The bullet caught the Jap squarely in the chest and bowled him over for a second time, permanently.

Arrest Made In Bank Robbery

Man 23 Admits Holdup And Sum Taken Recovered

SUMMERSVILLE, Mo., Oct. 5.—(P)—The arrest of a young man who, Sheriff Andy Johnson said, signed a statement admitting the robbery of the Summersville state bank was announced tonight.

The man, who gave his name as Freeman Nichols, 23, former Rockford, Ill., foundry worker, was arrested at West Eminence by Sheriff Johnson and Missouri Patrol Sergeant Ben Graham less than eight hours after the robbery.

More than $1,000 was recovered by the officers who said young Nichols placed the money in a box and addressed it to himself at (902 W. State) Rockford. It was insured for $25.

After signing the statement Nichols left with Johnson and Graham to a spot on the highway where the officers said the remainder of the $1,427 had been buried.

Sheriff Johnson, who said Nichols was asleep at his mother's home when arrested, said formal state charges would be filed against the youth in Texas county tomorrow.

Forced Into Vault
The bank was robbed of approximately $1,427 shortly before 11 a. m. today by an unmasked man who fled in an automobile.

The man entered the bank armed with a pistol and informed Lee Bell, cashier, that "This is a stick-up." Bell and Mrs. Gladys Buffington were alone in the bank and ordered to get into the vault. The robber picked up a money sack and scooped available cash into it and then slammed the door on the bank employees. They escaped from the vault a few minutes later and notified officers.

A cordon of state highway patrol cars was thrown quickly around the area in an attempt to block all roads over which the bandit might flee.

The highway patrol said the bandit drove away in a Plymouth automobile.

He was armed with an automatic pistol.

Summersville, a town of about 300 population, is on the eastern edge of Texas county, in southern Missouri, on state highways 17 and 106.

The Summersville bank was organized in 1904. G. A. Richards is president.

talk on the things that Mr. Hurd had accomplished during his years here, through dark days and bright days of the church and of how grateful his members were to have him returned to them for another year.

Pastor Responds
Mr. Hurd responded, reviewing briefly how he had come to be accepted as pastor of the church, of the years that followed, some bad, but eventually they came through with their church.

He said that the founding of Epworth was sixty-eight years ago and that he hoped to make this the best year they had ever had.

Mrs. Roscoe Ryckman sang a solo, "Sing Along," which she dedicated to Mr. Hurd, after which Mrs. Charles Hurd read a poem, "This Is Where You Belong," written for the occasion.

Mrs. Edwin Danforth sang a

U. S. Losses In The Palaus

Thousands Under The Casualties Of Japanese

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, Oct. 5.—(P)—A total of 336 marines and soldiers were killed, eight listed as missing and 1,707 wounded between Sept. 25 and Oct. 5 in fighting in the southern Palaus against 2,755 Japanese slain in the same period.

A communique today announced these totals which increased American casualties since the Sept. 15 invasion to 7,417 against 11,043 Japanese killed and 187 taken prisoner.

Of the latest figures, the American dead included 191 marines and 145 soldiers. Among the wounded, 1,011 were marines, 696 soldiers.

The total Palau casualties of the first marine division are 711 killed, 4,650 wounded, 267 missing. The 81st army division losses altogether were 251 killed, 1,456 wounded, 13 missing.

Attack Destroyer
Today's communique reported air attacks on a Japanese destroyer and a large cargo ship north-west of Iwo Jima, in the Volcano islands, 750 miles south of Tokyo.

Marine Corsairs using the captured airfields on Peleliu in the southern Palaus bombed the airstrip and motor concentrations on Babelthup, large enemy-held island in the northern Palaus and warehouses at Koror Oct. 4.

Ground troops continued to apply heavy pressure on an enemy pocket at "Bloody Nose" ridge on Peleliu.

Liberator bombers strafed a small cargo ship near Onnakotan in the Kuriles Oct. 3. Near Paramushiro, also in the Kuriles, two enemy planes intercepted unsuccessfully.

The strike at the cargo ship and destroyer off Iwo Jima occurred the same day.

Marcus, Pagan in the northern Marianas, Ponape in the eastern Carolines and Jaluit in the Marshalls also were raided.

Reds Converge Upon Belgrade
By W. W. HERCHER
LONDON, Friday, Oct. 6.—(P)—Russian troops converging swiftly on Belgrade yesterday fought their way through the Danube north bank suburb of Pancevoe eight miles across the river and marshes from the Yugoslav capital, and Berlin announced that upwards of 120,000 other Red army men had begun a new offensive in western Lithuania aimed at German East Prussia.

Overturning 50 localities in a swift offensive across the rich plains of Hungary, Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's Second Ukrainian army units rolled the Germans back on a 100-mile front, aided by a second junction with Marshal Tito's hard-fighting Partisans. Gains ranged up to 20 miles. The Russians in the north last were reported within 6 miles east of German East Prussia's annexed port of Memel on the Baltic and about the same distance from Tilsit to the southwest.

The aim of this offensive, about which Moscow kept silent, would be to seal off Riga, 75 miles to the northeast, along with the entire section of northwestern Latvia as a prelude to an invasion of East Prussia.

Berlin meanwhile admitted that Russian troops invading Saare (Osle) island off the western Estonian coast had hammered out a bridgehead on this large island dominating the Gulf of Riga. Russian seizure of 1,000-square-mile Saare would cut the German seaward escape route out of Riga in cooperation with Col. Gen. Ivan C. Paganin's First Baltic army push west of Stalinal.

Three Kinds Of Pensions For Veterans

All Pensions Are Free Of State And Federal Taxes

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—(P)—There are three kinds of pensions for war veterans. Two are for disability due to military service. The third is for disability not connected with military service.

Group One: For those disabled in line of duty there is a pension based upon the degree of disability. This could be anything from a stiff wrist or bronchitis to loss of an eye or limb.

The degree of disability ranges from 10 percent to 100 percent (total disability). There is no pension for a disability rated lower than 10 percent.

The pensions are paid at the rate of $1 per percentage point—starting at 10 per cent—plus 15 per cent.

An Example
For Example: Tom Smith came out of service with bronchitis. If it was chronic but mild, it might be rated a 10 per cent disability. He'd receive $10 monthly, plus 15 per cent, or $11.50.

If it was chronic but severe and was rated 30 per cent disability, he'd receive $30, plus 15 percent, or a total monthly pension of $34.50.

The degree of disability is determined by a board of specialists within the veterans' administration which pays the pensions. The board consist of a doctor, lawyer and occupation expert.

If a veteran is discharged from service with a certificate of disability, the specialists' board generally does not examine him but takes the say-so of the army or navy doctors for his condition.

A man discharged as well and able, in the opinion of army or navy doctors, may file a claim for disability pension any time after his discharge if he thinks he has a just claim. He should start this procedure with the nearest regional office of the veterans' administration.

Group Two
Group Two: Veterans who have lost some part of the body—like an arm, hand, eye—get a flat, fixed pension payment.

And this is in addition to the (Please turn to Page 4, Column 1)

Aimee's Funeral Be Spectacular

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 5.—(P)—Funeral services for Aimee Semple McPherson will be as spectacular as the life of the titanic haired woman evangelist whose mysterious disappearance was a sensation in 1926.

Her body will lie in state for three days beginning tomorrow.

A thousand ministers of her Foursquare gospel will attend the services Monday and a group of them will carry her body in a 1200 pound solid bronze casket to the marble sarcophagus in Forest Lawn Memorial Park.

Ministers holding flags of her church will form an "avenue of sorrow" as the body is borne up the hillside.

Sloping up the pine-dotted lawn will be a 600-foot-long carpet of flowers its arms interlocking upon her tomb.

Two carloads of blossoms will be used to build the cross, which will constitute the biggest funeral piece ever seen here, the evangelist's followers say.

Beneath one of its arms will be a 150-voice choir in white robes; under the other her 50-piece band in red, white and blue uniforms.

Special trains will be run by the Pacific electric railway from Angelus Temple to Forest Lawn for the graveside services.

Contributing to the spectacular quality of Mrs. McPherson's death is its as yet unexplained cause.

L. M. Monsees, Well Known Mule Breeder, Tells of Mules

By L. M. Monsees, Smithton, Mo.

There has never been a time in past history of the United States when the production of good mules was not profitable. I see no reason why the future outlook for producing good mules will not be fully as profitable as it has been in the past. I will admit the auto and tractor have come to stay and in many localities will increase in their use while in other localities the use of tractors will decrease and in many localities they will never be used as a power in agricultural work. The production of mules has been greatly decreased which naturally makes better the future prospects for producing mules. There are too many countries and places where the tractors or other motor powers cannot fill the place of the mule, or some of the horse kind of power and as the mule is the best of all working animals in seventy-five per cent of all work it naturally makes him a very profitable animal to breed and grow on the average farm. The mule is by far the hardest and best of all animals to raise and handle on the average farm. The mule is less susceptible to disease and blemishes than any animal on the farm, he can be handled and grown on less feed and with less care than any of the horse or cattle kind.

Fine for Farms

The mule is by far the best and cheapest animal with which to operate large farms, especially sugar and cotton plantations where horse power is used. These work mules can be successfully handled and worked in bunches of 10 to 20 in one bunch. Ten to twenty teams of mules can be successfully cared for and fed by one man. All that is necessary in handling a bunch of mules in or out of work is a good corral with a good big comfortable shed with plenty of good water and feed.

These mules can be unharnessed when the day's work is over, turned in this corral or lot where there is a tank full of water, a trough full of grain and rack full of hay without any danger whatsoever of a mule over-eating or over-drinking, or of having colic and getting foundered, etc., and there is no danger of these mules kicking and hurting one another.

Take Care of Themselves

The mule is too smart to over-drink or over-eat, or to be hurt by another mule. Of course, there is some danger of one mule kicking another when they are shod behind, but the farm or plantation mule does not need shoes on unless some special times where road work or hauling is done over frozen or rocky and rough roads. I

Cpl. Whitmire has also sent home a piece of a Japanese Zero with part of the Rising Sun painted on it.

Purple Heart To Pfc. Earl W. Mueller

Pfc. Earl Wayne Mueller, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Mueller of Hughesville, has been awarded the Purple Heart. Pfc. Mueller was wounded in action in France on August 9 and is now in a hospital in England. In a letter to his parents he told them that he was getting along fine and expected to be able to use his hand in a few weeks. He has been overseas since June of this year. Mr. and Mrs. Mueller received the Purple Heart on September 21.

have been asked a number of times how long will these mules be profitable to raise; my answer is, just as long as we raise cotton and corn. I have also been asked what are we going to do for mares to raise these mules from? My answer is let the other fellow breed and raise the mares, and any time you want to buy a mare all you have to do is to have a mule to sell. I have never yet seen the time when the price of a good mule would not buy a good mare and more often a good mule will sell for more than it would take to buy a good mare. The range man can successfully raise horses on the open range. Much more so than to raise mules, because the stallion loose on the range is more successful in getting colts than a jack is and therefore the men on the range is always ready and willing to supply you with good mares and a lower price than you can sell your mule and then there are always a few men who think it a sin to breed a mare to a jack and these fellows will raise a few mares for sale. A mule has a cash value regardless of his age or size, that is more than you can say for the horses or mares.

First in War and Peace

I well knew an old bachelor in this neighborhood who farmed a little twenty-acre farm. His team consisted of one good average horse and one good average mule. This old bachelor took sick and died and as he had no money the mule was easily sold for money to pay all funeral expenses but the horse was left on the administrators hands.

The mule is first in war and first in peace.

Boys Write Of Camp Held At Kaiser, Mo.

Pettis County 4-H Delegates Tell Of Activities There

Bill Rissler of the Maplewood 4-H Club and Ira Williams of the Houstonia 4-H Club were the Pettis county 4-H delegates that attended the conservation camp at Camp Hawthorne, Kaiser, Missouri, near the Lake of the Ozarks. The stores of camp activities written by these boys are as follows:

"Camp Hawthorne was open for registration at three o'clock Thursday afternoon. There were fifty people at camp including the camp personnel who stayed there. The camp members were divided into three groups. Each group then elected five council members, the council members in turn elected a president, a secretary, cabin inspectors, and song leaders. Ira and I were members of the council and song leaders during the camp period.

We had two swimming periods during our stay at camp with Miss Harman as lifeguard. Of evenings we sang songs and played folk games and one evening we saw a moving picture of habits of prairie chickens conducted by Mr. Schwartz. Thursday we took a trip on the lake, and the boat made two trips that afternoon, taking half of the campers each trip.

At Observation Tower

Saturday morning we had a contour line contest and a trip to the observation tower supervised by Mr. Coleman. Dr. Bennett and Mr. Schwartz were in charge of a field trip through the woods where we located birds with field glasses and tried to identify them. Mr. Coleman was in charge of a field trip to the shore of the lake where Mr. Schwartz told us about water fowl and water animals which were very interesting.

Dr. Bennett gave us a talk on the value of song birds and how to prepare food and shelter for them. Mr. Johnston gave a talk on the purpose of the recreational area. We also had a talk on developing pictures and a talk about habits and shelter of wildlife by Mr. Schwartz.

Camp was dismissed at one thirty Sunday afternoon after we had dinner and a report from the council. I am sure all of the members enjoyed the camp very much and found it very educational.

Billy Rissler.

"The State 4-H Club Conservation Camp was held at Camp Hawthorne, Lake of the Ozarks U. S. Recreation Area at Kaiser, Missouri.

We arrived at camp on Thursday evening and stayed until Sunday afternoon. "Conservation" was the theme all the time we were there. We were divided into three groups—the "Feather, Flower, Fir and Fin."

Each group selected 5 to be on the Camp Council. Two of these five were called the Wardens. They led the singing. The council president was named "The Kingfisher," the secretary, "Queen Quill Porcupine," and the cabin inspectors were called the "Beaver Housekeepers."

Five Groups of Leaders

We had a very fine group of leaders. Robert S. Clough, Miss May Sontag, and Miss Marylee Holmes had our camp planned very good. Mr. C. W. Schwartz, a biologist from the State Conservation Commission, and Dr. Rudolf Bennett from the University of Missouri, gave us a lot of very valuable information on nature and wildlife. They gave several interesting talks and took us on a number of field trips. Mr. Schwartz is quite a camera man and he was always taking pictures of nature and wildlife. He showed one movie of the Prairie Chickens and explained it.

We studied the soil under the supervision of Mr. O. T. Coleman, a specialist in soil conservation. He explained the differences in soils and taught us to run off contour lines and terrace ridges. We were all given a level and told to set stakes for a terrace ridge. Some of the results were very accurate.

Plenty of recreation was on hand all the time. We had swimming, horseshoe pitching, singing, and games of all kinds. Miss Carolyn Harman was in charge of the swimming and was a very good lifeguard. After supper each evening we enjoyed a fine time of singing and folk games and dances. We took one boat trip out over the lake one afternoon. We had lots of fun in everything we did.

We were generally on K.P. in some form each day. If we happened to be on the dishwashing crew, we were due about an hour or more of cleaning up the dishes and the kitchen. We had to have our cabins in order each morning before the inspectors came around. It was never a burden on anyone though, as everyone pitched in and helped to make camp-life a success.

All in all, we had a very educational and enjoyable time at the conservation camp with a fine group of 4-H boys and girls from all over the State of Missouri.

Ira Williams, Pettis County Delegate.

Green Feed Good For Poultry Flock

Green feed will provide poultry flock health insurance and result in more profitable production, even though its use may be restricted to afternoon grazing—particularly in cold weather, says E. B. Winner of the University of Missouri College of Agriculture. With the present feed situation it is doubly important that green feed be provided this fall. Recent fall rains have made it possible to make necessary seeding.

Program On Achievemnt

Blackwater Clubs Presented It On September 22

The old saying, "Kill two birds with one stone" was accomplished Friday evening, September 22, by the Blackwater Progressive Extension Club and the 4-H Club who presented a local achievement program and a community good time all in one evening. These two events are requirements for their certificate of achievement, so they were good managers and did them both on one trip, thus saving gas.

The women had a beautiful display of handwork made during the year. There was a great variety in the numerous quilt articles. Of course, the quilts always have their place in the beauty of color and stitches taken. One especially outstanding was seventy years old. It was called "Grandmother's Dream" an original design by the maker. A table of curious from other lands had their place of interest; the ornamented box from Italy, a billfold containing Italian money, the woven slippers from North Africa, a coconut, fig leaf, and many other interesting articles. There was a colorful display of garden vegetables and canned foods.

Room For Display

The 4-H club had their display in a small room all to themselves. The room was decorated in green and white. Plates of onions and potatoes were the fresh products while canned foods included tomatoes and carrots.

Mrs. Raymond Whitall, president of the Extension Club, presided over the evening. A 4-H playlet was presented by the members of the 4-H club and a Victory Garden song was sung by them. Johnny Hurd emphasized the place of honesty in 4-H club work and everyday living with a clever telephone conversation. Garner Paul Wellde gave a reading about boys' project work and the cooperation the mother gives.

Miss Bacon was introduced and congratulated the club on their fine exhibit and interesting program. She explained to the group about the "Green Thumb" Victory garden contest and gave each of the women a card to hang in their kitchen as a reminder of the 7 basic foods to be included in their meals every day.

Mrs. Melvin Lane then took charge of the program. Patricia Burfeind sang "Huckleberry Finn" accompanied by Jean Burfeind and Rebecca Daniels. The remainder of the program was group singing led by Parsons Hurd accompanied by Mrs. Melvin Lane at the piano.

After several songs had been sung and enjoyed by the group they assembled downstairs. The tables were beautifully decorated with flowers and candies. The women graciously served sandwiches, cocoa, and coffee to 100 people.

Beggendorf Taken By Americans In Advance In Germany

guns met the challenge of enemy batteries.

In addition to newly-dug positions behind the original "dragons teeth" of the Siegfried line, the enemy also utilized huge slag piles as supplementary positions.

"Things definitely are beginning to open up," declared an American staff officer. "We are definitely through his main fortifications. He is trying to stop us now with mobile guns instead of fixed concrete defenses."

He said the Germans were putting their poorest troops into static defenses and using their better units as a mobile reserve to try to plug up gaps.

Some of today's toughest fighting—outside the armored engagement around Beggendorf—centered around a hill east of the village of Herbach, a mile southwest of Ubach, which American troops captured yesterday.

During Wednesday night American artillery gave the entire area three "serenades," in which every available gun, from 75s to huge 240s, blasted away for long periods. When a tank column moved up to storm the height early today its commander radioed back that "there are so many dead Germans on the road that it is tough going."

Far to the south in the mud-bomb Moselle valley of France, Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third army shock troops fought viciously for the second day inside the labyrinths of Fort Riant.

During Wednesday night American troops in the southwest corner of the mile-and-a-half long fort penetrated underground and made the first breach in the enemy's underground fortifications.

Tonight Patton's men, who once were prematurely reported by Allied headquarters to have captured the fort, were inching their way through the caverns of the medieval bastion against suicidal resistance from youthful Nazis who until recently attended a famous military school at Metz.

It was announced that the 48-hour truce declared to enable civilians to evacuate the channel port of Dunkerque had been extended four hours until 10 a. m. Friday morning, when British and Canadian forces were to resume their assault against a holdout German garrison of 15,000. Some 12,000 civilians were reported to have quit the town since the guns fell silent.

Canadian troops accelerated their drive to throw a protecting ring around Antwerp in Belgium, the only big shipping center yet captured intact by the Allies.

Three Kinds f Pen- sions for Veterans

pension paid for disability on a percentage basis as outlined in group one above.

For example: The flat pension payment to a man who has lost an eye, or leg or arm is $35 monthly.

Now suppose he lost a leg. If it was amputated at the hip, the specialists' board—under the disability pension program in group one—would count that a 90 per cent disability. So he'd receive $103.50 in disability pension ($80 plus 15 percent) and the flat $35 pension of the leg.

Fixed Payments

But—in the case of more serious losses, the flat, fixed pension makes up the total pension payment and there is no payment for disability on a percentage basis.

Some of those fixed, total payments are: For the loss of both hands or both feet, or one hand and one foot, $165 monthly; for the loss of both eyes, or both hands and one foot, or both feet and one hand, $190; for the loss of both eyes and one hand or one foot, $215; for the loss of both eyes and both hands or both feet or one hand and one foot, $265; for the loss of both hands and both feet, $265.

This should be noted: Loss of "use" is considered the same as "loss" in specific payments for disability.

Group Three

Group Three: There is a flat $50 monthly pension for a veteran disabled after military discharge by a cause not connected with military service. But there are rigid conditions attached to this pension.

To get it the veteran must: Be permanently and totally disabled; have an annual income, if not married, not exceeding $1,000 or, if married, not exceeding $2,500; have had at least 90 days' military service or been discharged for disability if he served less than 90 days. And he can't get the pension if the disability resulted from misconduct.

All these pensions are free of state and federal taxes.

from north to south—the charge being that the Roosevelt administration is part of a gigantic plot to sell our democracy out to the Communists."

"Fear Propaganda"

The President said more than 3,000,000 copies of the document were printed by the government printing office and continued:

"This form of fear propaganda is not new among rabble rousers and fomenters of class hatred who seek to destroy democracy itself. It was used by Mussolini's Black Shirts and by Hitler's Brown Shirts. It has been used before in this country by the Silver Shirts and others on the lunatic fringe."

This year's election, he said, is being held despite "the prophecies of some politicians and a few newspapers who have stated x x x that it was my sinister purpose to abolish all elections."

Charging that many men and women in the armed services will be unable to vote—an obvious reference to his displeasure with the soldier vote bill passed by congress last winter—the President said the public "will be able to fix the responsibility for this state of affairs."

"They know," he continued, "that during this past year there were politicians who quite openly worked to restrict the use of the ballot in this election, hoping selfishly for a small vote."

Then pleading for a maximum turnout at the polls, the President said he would be "very sorry" to win or lose this election "on a small turnout of voters."

He declared that demobilization and reconversion program has been working for some time with-in the administration.

Refers To Restrictions

"When our enemies are finally defeated," he declared, "we will want to see an end at the earliest practicable moment to wartime restrictions and wartime controls."

He said such wartime measures as price, rent control and rationing are temporary and declared no administration would "dare" to ask their continuance beyond the time they are essential to the war.

Turning to the international aspect of the campaign, Mr. Roosevelt said "we will continue to be united with our Allies in a powerful world organization which is ready and able to keep the peace if necessary by force. x x x"

"We owe it to our heritage of freedom, we owe it to our God, to devote the best of our lives and all of our capabilities to the building of solid durable structure of world peace."

Mr. Roosevelt referred indirectly to Governor Dewey's repeated assertion that the administration intends to keep men in uniform after the war by declaring that the war department has its own plan for speedy demobilization "based upon the wishes of the soldiers themselves." That plan was issued September 6, he said.

On June 12, he said, War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes announced that the armed services are entitled to first consideration in any plan of demobilization and the President quoted these words of Byrnes:

"Their orderly release at the earliest possible moment consistent with the effective prosecution of the war has ever been the primary consideration of both the President and the joint chiefs of staff."

Series Reports To Fighters Of U. S. Overseas

Correspondents Of Every Theatre Of War Give Them

By BEN F. PHLEGAR

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Fighting forces in all parts of the world are getting the 1944 world series first hand from their own representative correspondents here from every theatre of war.

The largest service contingent represents "Leatherneck," the Marine's magazine. Two former sports writers and an ace combat photographer will assemble an eight-page special world series section for their overseas edition, issued semi-monthly to Marines everywhere.

Sgt. Bob Meyers of Los Angeles and Bob Broeg of Washington, whose home is St. Louis, are turning out the copy and Sgt. Don Pittman of Timmonsville, S. C., who has seen action in four major engagements in the South Pacific, is shooting the pictures.

Broeg is an ardent Cardinal fan. He should be. He formerly worked in the Cardinal publicity department. Meyers is on the other side of the fence. He wrote sports in Los Angeles before enlisting and was indoctrinated in the National League viewpoint through the Los Angeles ball club, an affiliate of the Chicago Cubs. "However," Meyers said, "I like the Browns in the series because of their spirit."

Files To Army Papers

The CBI roundup, published in New Delhi for the China-Burma-India war theatre, has a personal representative at the series. He is Sgt. John Derr, a former Greensboro, N. C. sports editor. Derr, in the states on furlough after two years overseas, is filing 600 words daily and two columns every week to army newspapers "over there."

Derr picked the Browns to win this classic, "and after that first game I'm sure I made a good choice."

Sgt. Charles Kiley came from the New York office of "Stars and Stripes" to tell the boys in Paris and London about the first all-St. Louis series. Besides a play-by-play and a complete running account of each game, these overseas editors get almost a thousand words of eyewitness details from Kiley.

"I picked the Cardinals to win in six games. I didn't like that game yesterday at all. Those boys better come back and redeem me," the sergeant said.

Even the Royal Canadian air force in Nova Scotia has a personal interest in the series. They sent Sgt. J. P. Bourque of Amherst, Nova Scotia, 2300 miles to tell them about the game. Bourque who says "confidentially I like both clubs but I'm pulling for the Browns," sends his columns to the "Lucky Star-Tribune," an RCAF weekly paper.

No Immediate Increase On 'Gas'

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Secretary of the Interior Ickes, as War Petroleum Administrator, told Senator Reed (R-Kans.) today civilians will get "every possible gallon of petroleum products" but that there isn't enough available to permit an increased gasoline allotment.

Ickes replied in a letter written by Reed Sept. 26. Reed contended that on the basis of industry figures given him, there was a surplus of 10,000,000 gallons of gasoline a day. He proposed that the two gallons a week given "A" card motorists be doubled.

Ickes told Reed that: "Contrary to the belief expressed in your letter, there are no 10,000,000 gallons of surplus gasoline a day available for civilians in the United States. If there were, the gasoline would have been made available to the public."

Further, Ickes said, stocks of civilian grade motor gasoline on Sept. 16 totalled about 40,000,000 barrels compared with 38,000,000 a year ago and a comparable pre-war figure of 65,000,000.

Again Bomb Jap Oil Center

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN New Guinea, Friday, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Liberator bombers hit the major Japanese oil center at Balikpapan, Borneo, with 40 tons of bombs in another heavy raid reported today by headquarters.

Nineteen Japanese fighters were downed and seven Liberators were lost in a one hour air battle over the Borneo objective Tuesday.

This was the second heavy assault on the vital objective in four days. Sixty Liberators Saturday hit Balikpapan, termed by Gen. Douglas MacArthur as "the most lucrative strategic target in the Pacific."

In that assault three Liberators were lost and seven Japanese interceptors were shot down in an air battle lasting over an hour.
